DEAR COLLEAGUES:

Green building and sustainable development are two subjects that send even the most hard-boiled construction lawyers running for cover! The Forum on Construction Law's 2017 Midwinter Meeting co-sponsored with the ABA Section of Environment, Energy, and Resources (SEER) will arm you with what you need to know to advise your clients about changes in this growing field and to avoid traps for the unwary.

Throughout this conference, you will hear from prominent industry and thought leaders who will discuss environmental issues affecting today's projects, best practices for resolving them, and where the industry is heading. These sessions feature not only Forum and SEER lawyers, but also seasoned industry professionals to guide you through a comprehensive discussion of a broad range of environmental topics affecting you and your clients. If you're still not sure, let us share...

The Top Five Reasons Why YOU Need to Attend:

1. Green is here to stay and is growing in importance across all areas of law, regardless of whether we call it "green building," "sustainable development" or "environmental law";
2. Environmental issues, in a climate that is in a state of flux, affect your clients' businesses—to represent them well and to retain them as clients, you must be able to spot environmental issues as they arise;
3. In a changing environment, the need to address legal issues at each step of the development life cycle, from planning, design and contracting to performance and retrofitting, has never been more important;
4. Top industry leaders, including former U.S. Secretary of Energy, Dr. Steven Chu, are coming to Palm Desert to share the latest developments in the field to help you identify important issues and stay ahead of the curve to guide your clients; and
5. Palm Desert in February. Wow!

Away from the sessions, you'll have a chance to enjoy networking, time outdoors and a variety of activities. It's all right here: from a spectacular trip above the Coachella Valley on the famous Palm Spring Aerial Tram followed by a sustainable energy or architectural tour, to a Jeep and hiking adventure, and much more. Great food and many "on your own" activities await you in a beautiful setting at a great time of year to be there!

We'd like to thank the all-star members of our Advisory Panel for the time and energy they devoted to helping to develop the agenda: Melissa Beutler, Rhonda Caviedes, Ed Gentilcore, Kerry Kester, Chris Ng, and Debra Rubin. We're grateful for your thoughtful participation and leadership! We'd also like to thank the Session Coordinators who volunteered their time and talents to work with our speakers to reach their fullest potential: Emily Anderson, Sean Calvert, Rob Dodson, Julia Hunting, Kerra Hicks, Ted Laperouse II, Craig McCloud, Matt Ninneman, Brian Perlberg, and Sunu Pillai. Finally, we'd like to express our appreciation for the valuable insight and tireless effort of our program marketing coordinator, Richard Wittbrodt.

Special thanks to our co-sponsor for this program, the ABA Section of Environment, Energy, and Resources (SEER). We extend a warm Forum invitation and welcome SEER members to join us!

We can't wait to see you in sunny and beautiful Palm Desert in February!

The Sustainability Forecast: Examining Current Conditions and Things to Come

Modern construction projects increasingly turn on environmental impact and sustainability concerns. What issues do these projects raise for your clients as owner, governmental and consumer expectations ripple into their space? From land development, energy, and water issues to construction of weather walls, industry thought leaders discuss the latest developments, best practices, and leading trends that you need to know to serve your clients in a changing environment.

Do you know your ABCs? Navigating the Alphabet Soup of Sustainable Construction

As more construction projects incorporate elements of sustainability, it is critical that lawyers understand the “language” of sustainable construction and green building law. How familiar are you with the fast-evolving “alphabet soup” of green building systems, standards and codes, including LEED v4, the IgCC, ASHRAE 189.1, ICC-700, Passive House, WELL, and GRESB? This plenary will provide an overview of the sustainable building process and issues including: (1) recent developments in green design, construction and certification issues; (2) financial, scheduling, life-cycle and “best value” issues; (3) the impact of federal, state and local sustainability requirements and initiatives on construction; and (4) recent case law related to sustainable development.

WORKSHOP A

11:30 A.M. – 12:30 P.M.

Water, Water Everywhere! . . . or Not! Helping Your Clients to Survive

Water... too little or too much... either way it's an issue affecting construction development and for which clients are increasingly seeking legal advice. Expanding regulations and restrictions affect the rights, use, consumption, allocation and accommodations necessary to address the impact of water on a project. This workshop will help you understand how the legal system can be used to facilitate business decision-making and avoid pitfalls related to water issues.

Owners: So You Want to LEED? – Here's What You Need to Know

Owners and developers increasingly must consider sustainability issues early in a project because they may significantly impact the way a project proceeds.

Workshop B explores what owners must consider to meet their sustainability objectives including LEED certification, obtaining incentives and credits, avoiding penalties, and the legal issues that accompany such analysis. This workshop also addresses “green” issues unique to new construction.

Laying a Solid Foundation: Special Contract Considerations for Sustainable Construction Projects

Square pegs rarely fit round holes. Using a contract form that does not address sustainability issues may cause problems for a sustainable project. Plenary 3 compares how standard contract forms (AIA and ConsensusDocs) approach LEED development/certification and sustainability issues in design and construction.

The presentation will address a number of sustainable contract issues from the perspectives of the owner, designer and contractor, including: (1) the suitability of different project delivery systems; (2) the degree to which the design professional's “standard of care” includes achieving sustainability objectives; (3) consequences for failure to meet objectives; and (4) proposed contract modifications to address risk allocation for each major contracting party.

Insurance and Surety in the Sustainability Context: Not Sexy, But Critical to Your Client's Bottom Line

Having the wrong insurance or missing the right type of coverage can bankrupt a company or crush a project. Understanding issues that impact the confluence of insurance with design, construction, sustainability and the environment is critical. Risk identification, available coverages, and handling claims regarding sustainable building will be discussed by a panel of industry professionals to help you better advise your clients in this extremely important area of law.

The Winds of Change are Blowing: Staying Ahead of the Sustainability Trends in Building Codes and Regulations

From populous East Coast cities and regions to the deserts in the West, states and municipalities are adapting existing development regulations and building codes to improve sustainability. This plenary summarizes the issues that regulators are addressing and the changes they are implementing to make development more sustainable in a changing climate. Learn how the concept of “resilience” is impacting sustainable development and the policies driving regulatory change. Use this program to guide your clients through the changing regulatory environment.

Good Intentions, Scary Results: Avoiding the Money Pit in ‘Green’ Renovations

With shrinking capital improvement and operating budgets coupled with historical considerations, public and private sector owners are seeking to retrofit existing facilities to improve energy efficiency. Without thoughtful consideration of the risks inherent in “green” renovation projects, the road to financial loss and unrealized goals may be paved with good intentions. This session will equip you to successfully guide your client through a retrofitting project by addressing issues such as:

- Special contract and risk considerations for designers, contractors and owners involved in retrofitting projects;
- Federal, state and local requirements and incentives for sustainable retrofitting; and
- Schedule uncertainty and other unforeseen conditions.

Illuminating the Commissioning Process: What Your Clients Need You to Know

Throughout a building lifecycle, commissioning plays an important role, and owners increasingly turn to professional commissioning authorities to recommend, achieve and verify sustainability goals. In this session, experienced professionals will help you understand the commissioning process as well as the roles, responsibilities and legal obligations of the owner, designer, contractor, subcontractor and commissioning agent. Be prepared to gain insight into best practices and current trends in commissioning that will help you avoid disputes and resolve issues for your clients.

Ethics: Avoiding a Trip to Club Fed – Criminal Liability for Lawyers in Construction Contracting

If professional discipline and malpractice exposure is not bad enough, the roles lawyers play in advising clients in government or private construction contracting can also lead to criminal exposure. This session explores the Dark Side of contracting, including what can get lawyers in hot water with the Feds. Learn how to detect troublesome issues and avoid spending quality time at Club Fed.

CONSTRUCTION PRACTICUM: ADVOCACY THROUGH DEVELOPING AND USING CASE THEMES

Whether a case is tried to an arbitrator, a judge, or a jury, one of the main issues an advocate faces is making the issues in a complex construction case easily understood. One of the best ways to help explain the issues is to use appropriate case themes and stories. By identifying a theme early in a case, experienced construction attorneys shape their discovery and motions practice to tell the story behind them while, at the same time, continually evaluating the theme to ensure that it remains viable in the face of the evidence in the case. Please join us for an interactive program that will instruct and challenge construction advocates of every skill level.

Topics will include:

- Why Use Themes and Stories at All? Why Aren't the Facts of the Case Enough?
- Early Identification of Themes: Benefits and Pitfalls
- Selection of Themes and Avoiding Clichés
- Themes versus Stories
- Developing the Facts through Engaging Stories to Enhance the Theme
- Reassessing the Case Theme Throughout Discovery
- Using and Reinforcing Themes Before Trial
- Using Themes Before and During an Arbitration Hearing and Trial

FIRST TIME ATTENDEE WELCOME AND KICKOFF

This special event welcomes those attending their first Forum meeting, and welcomes back any who are attending for the first time in five or more years. Come meet other first-timers and the leadership of the Forum. All first time attendees are invited to the Exhibitor Reception immediately following.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 2017

12:30 P.M. – 2:00 P.M.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: DR. STEVEN CHU

Presented by the Forum's Diversity Committee

Dr. Steven Chu is a former U.S. Secretary of Energy (2009-2013) and was the second Chinese American to hold a U.S. Cabinet position. Dr. Chu is also a co-recipient of the Nobel Prize for Physics (1997) and Professor at Stanford University. He is a vocal advocate for visionary research into the challenges and opportunities of renewable energy, nuclear power, and climate change. During his tenure as Energy Secretary, Dr. Chu established Energy Innovation Hubs which focus on specific high priority issues, such as Energy-Efficient Buildings, with the goal of rapidly accelerating the path from laboratory innovation to technological development and commercial deployment of critical energy technologies.

5:00 P.M. – 6:00 P.M.

WOMEN'S NETWORKING RECEPTION

Enjoy cocktails in the Santa Rosa Room, network, and socialize with many of the best-known women in construction law. This reception is a great opportunity to meet colleagues and talk about how we got here, where we are, and what the future holds for women in the profession.

6:00 P.M. – 7:30 P.M.

WELCOME RECEPTION

Bring your spouse or guest and gather around the fabulous outdoor pool with friends and colleagues for drinks and heavy hors d'oeuvres for an evening of socializing with new and old friends.

Note: One reception ticket is included in each meeting registration. Guest tickets may be purchased at the time of registration.

PALM SPRINGS AERIAL TRAM AND SUSTAINABLE ENERGY TOUR OR ARCHITECTURAL TOUR

Join your colleagues for experiences that are truly unique to the Palm Springs area. Begin the afternoon with a visit to the Palm Springs Aerial Tramway on Mt. San Jacinto where you will experience spectacular views of the surrounding cliffs and valleys as you ascend more than 2 miles up the mountainside in the world's largest rotating tram car. Once you reach the Mountain Station (elevation 8,516 feet) enjoy more views from several observation decks, grab a cocktail at one of the restaurants/lounges, stroll through a natural history museum and gift shop, take a short walk along one of the hiking trails, or enjoy a documentary about the design and construction of the tramway which has been designated as a historical civil engineering landmark. A boxed lunch will be provided as you depart the hotel for the 45 minute trip to the aerial tram.

Note: The temperature at the Mountain Station atop the aerial tramway can be up to 30 degrees cooler than in the valley. We recommend that you dress accordingly and wear comfortable walking shoes.

After returning from atop the Mountain Station, guests will have the option to enjoy either a Sustainable Energy Tour, or a tour of mid-century modern architecture in the Palm Springs area.

Option 1: Sustainable Energy Tour: The Palm Springs area features a number of sustainable energy sources including solar, wind, and geothermal. Guests will drive by a solar panel farm in route to one of the largest working wind farms in the world. Tour guides will share the history of sustainable energy in the area, the utilization of wind power, and facts regarding the technological wonders of the towering windmills and giant turbine blades. You will have an opportunity to exit the tour bus and get closer than you ever imagined to the massive structures surrounded by spectacular mountain vistas.

Sponsored By: Interface Consulting

Option 2: Architectural Tour: Palm Springs contains one of the largest concentrations of mid-century modernist architecture in the world. You'll see architectural treasures by talented 20th century architects including homes of past and present celebrities, innovative civic structures, and well-preserved historic neighborhoods that defined mid-century Palm Springs. You will learn some interesting facts about the architects, their clients, the materials used and the creative flourish of the times that made Palm Springs such an important living museum of mid-century modern architecture.

Please select your option when registering for the program. Space is limited and will be available on a first come basis.

Sponsored By: Alberti Group and Conspectus, Inc.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 2017

9:30 A.M. – 3:00 P.M.

FORUM GOLF SCRAMBLE

No visit to the Palm Springs area would be complete without golf! Join us as we take full advantage of the perfect climate and enjoy the Desert Springs Golf Club (Palm Course) conveniently located on the JW Marriott property. Golfers of all skill levels are invited to join us for fun on the links in a “scramble” format tournament.

Sponsored By: Construction Process Solutions; Demand Construction Services, Inc.; FTI Consulting; Hill International; Kenrich Group; Litcon; Navigant; Nelson Forensics and Veritas

10:00 A.M. – 3:00 P.M.

INDIAN CANYONS JEEP TOUR, HIKE AND PALM OASIS PICNIC

Guests will depart the hotel in open-air, red jeeps and will enjoy an area eco-tour in route to the dramatic Indian Canyons, located at the base of Mount San Jacinto. The Indian Canyons are among the area's most popular outdoor destinations with a unique desert landscape that combines waterfalls, the largest natural California Fan Palm oasis in the North American hemisphere, and a full range of safe and scenic hiking trails. This excursion includes a gourmet family-style lunch served at the Palm Oasis picnic site.

GUEST ACTIVITY

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 2017

8:30 A.M. – 10:00 A.M.

“FARM TO FORK” CULINARY EXPERIENCE

This spouse and guest culinary class is all about the celebration of fresh fruit and vegetables, sustainable meats and seafood, and finish with dessert of course...

If you've ever wondered about organic, local farming, farmer's markets and what Chefs look for when sourcing food this is a class for you. Chef Thomas Horner has spent the last 20 years speaking with many folks in the food/dairy/produce growing chain, and he promises that this class will share all of those learnings. His passion and enthusiasm for preparing unique and delicious culinary dishes along with his experience with gardening and Aqua-ponics will explain how you can “eat more real food.”

Guests will savor all of the food the Chef and his team prepare during the demonstration.
